

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

In this research this chapter is the last dealing with the conclusion of the whole research result and elaborates some suggestions relating to teaching writing using collaborative method.

1.1. Conclusion

After presenting the finding of this study then discussing it, the researcher then has conclusion as follows:

There is significant different between the groups that used collaborative writing method and the group that did not used this method.

The facts showed that this result was proved statistically by the independent sample t-test calculation in post-test score and the significant less than 0.05 level of significance and it means that the null hypothesis (Ho) was rejected in addition There is significance difference between the use collaborative writing in improving students' writing narrative ability between experimental and control groups. Furthermore, based on the students' writing product, the students' writing ability of the experimental group significantly improved than the control group.

1.2. Suggestion

Based on the research, the researcher would like to give some suggestions:

1. The English teacher

English teacher, especially at SMP N 1 Manyar should increase frequency of using collaborative writing as a method in teaching English to improve the students' writing ability. The teacher should give more exercise about writing narrative using collaborative writing method (make a draft, develop to paragraph and the last is revise).

2. The students

The students should realize that they have important role in teaching learning process. The students should be more active in order to improve their writing ability. The students are should expected to pay concentration on the teaching learning process to increase their writing ability. The students should do more exercise by using collaborative writing method and the steps of collaborative writing are: first the students make a draft, second from draft the students should develop draft into paragraph and the last is revise the paragraph. The researcher hopes that by using collaborative writing method can be alternative to increase their writing ability.

3. The next researcher

For the next researcher are expected to do further research about collaborative writing method for students' writing narrative text in more complex elements to create good method and give more exercise about narrative text by using collaborative writing method.
