

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter presents the conclusions of the study and some suggestions. The conclusions are based on the results of the study. Meanwhile, the suggestions are recommended for the English teacher and the future researcher, particularly for those who are involved in teaching reading comprehension.

5.1 Conclusion

Based on the research finding, it was concluded that:

- a. The implementation of discovery and inquiry method could improve students' reading comprehension ability. discovery and inquiry method helps them in training their comprehension because in this chance the students could evaluate each other.
- b. The implementation of discovery and inquiry method could improve students motivation in learning reading comprehension. The students looked enthusiastic in joining all activities during teaching learning process in every meeting. The researcher found some problems happened but it decrease day by day.

5.2 Suggestion

Based on the strengths and the weaknesses of the implementation of Communicative discovery and inquiry method in teaching reading, some suggestions are given to follow up the result of the study. First, the suggestion is addressed to the English teachers to be creative for developing media when they found their students are lazy or no interesting with media given.

Finally, a suggestion is also addressed to future researchers, especially those who are interested in applying discovery and inquiry method. Here they are suggested to prepare the planning before conducting a similar study because the success of the study depends on the material and also the implementation of the teaching.