TEACHER INTERVIEW

1. How long do you teach in this school? I have been taught here for about fifteen years.
2. Is error correction feedback giving contribution in your students' writing skill? Yes of course. It is really help students to be careful in composing paragraph. Their error gradually reduced. Even it is only reduce an error of their errors. But it means that, there is improvement in their writing. I am sure that my correction and also my explanation after we have discussion will give students more knowledge about good writing. And it also make them to take self correction while they are writing and before submitting their work.

3. How about students' response toward this method? They have good response for it. They always want me to give correction and feedback to their writing
4. Do you have some difficulties in teaching writing using this method? The problem is when I have to correct low level writer. They always make many errors. And when I give correction on their paper, there are many codes over there. This condition often frustrate them. So I need very long time for correction and giving feedback
